Club Owner Denies Giving Option To Negroes

Reports that he had given an option to a Negro group to buy Southmoor Country club at 131st st. and Southwest highway in Palos township were denied this week by the owner, Ben Stevenson, who has just returned from Florida.

"I have not given an option to buy the property to anyone nor has it been sold," Stevenson told a representative of THE SEMMLER PRESS.

He said he had been approached by the Negroes, who claimed to have purchased the club, about selling the club but that no deal had been made.

Asked if he had been approached by a group reported to be interested in the property as a site for a medical college and hospital, Mr. Stevenson gave a negative answer, but said he would welcome a proposition along this line.

According to some Chicago dailies the Southmoor club which takes in approximately 200 acres and is across U.S. 45 from Carl Sandburg high school, was allegedly purchased by three Negroes, two businessmen and a lawyer. One of them James A. Felder, who described himself as vice president and treasurer of the group, is the one quoted as saying that the purchase price was approximately $1.5-million and that he has an option to buy that runs thru May 1.

Felder is a real estate man. His partners are said to be Harry D. Elligan, owner of several apartment buildings, and William Hooks, a lawyer.

According to Felder they have received several hundred applications for membership and he claims the club would be the first of its kind under Negro ownership in Cook county.

Mr. Stevenson says any claim that he has sold the property or given an option on it to Negroes is false.

The reported sale has stirred considerable comment in Orland Park, Palos Park, Palos Heights and other communities in the area.

Asks Bids To Remove House At Frankfort

The Frankfort village board wants to dispose of the Anna Mitchell house at the east end of Kansas street and to that end is asking for bids on its removal.

The board doesn't care if the bidder moves the house and outbuildings, including a barn, off the lot or whether they wreck it and cart away the pieces. All the village is interested in is to get rid of the buildings.

Bids should be filed with Village Clerk Walter Pfaff by 8 o'clock the night of March 21, the date of the next meeting of the village council.

The house was purchased by the village to open Kansas st. to White ave. Condemnation proceedings had been launched in the circuit court but the purchase was negotiated outside of court just as the hearing was about to open.

The board meeting this week was lengthy but confined mostly to discussion of various problems.

Herman Barlewort appeared before the board to complain that some of the trees removed from his property to make room for the sewer digging machinery had been carted off and he indicated he may seek the arrest of the remover or removers. Barlewort had granted the village an easement for the sewer thru his property. The trees removed were evergreens. He has an agreement with the village under which the trees taken down -- 22 in all, he said -- are to be replaced by trees three and four feet in height.

He said that he has had a reward of $25 standing seven years for apprehension of anyone who made off with one of his trees.

He wants the man in charge of the tree cutters to pay this reward plus $50 for two or three trees allegedly carried off. Barlewort doesn't want the money paid to him, he told the board, but to the Bobbin-Swinford post of the American Legion as a donation.

A request for permission to establish a used car lot on the property south of its garage was made by the Trump Chevrolet Sales was submitted to the board and taken under consideration. A decision will be made later after it is determined whether the property in question should be rezoned.

An ordinance setting up a civil defense program in Frankfort was turned over to Village Attorney A. H. Krusemark for study and is expected to come before the council for passage at the next meeting. A similar ordinance is being studied by the New Lenox board.

N. Lenox Board To Take Bids On Sewer And Water March 16

The New Lenox village board will open bids at 8 p.m. March 16 on a proposed sewer and water system for the municipality.

When the bids are in officials then will know the size of the bond issue required to finance the project. They can also figure then how much it will cost each of the users.

Plans call for the financing of the program thru general obligation and revenue bonds. General obligation bonds are retired thru taxes; revenue bonds are retired thru a charge for services, in this instance sewer and water.

Bonds can be issued there must be an election at which the voters have an opportunity to say yes or no. Revenue bonds can be issued without a vote unless a petition is filed asking for an election.

The program now under study by the village board includes the purchase of the water company that now supplies a comparatively small number of village residents. This water company is owned by a corporation with headquarters in Philadelphia. Village Attorney William Penn has been discussing price for the property but explained that no figure has yet been arrived at and until a final agreement is reached the total will not be made public.

The village board is also negotiating with R. M. Rutledge, of California, for the purchase of a nine-acre site for a sewage treatment plant. The proposed site is on the south bank of Hickory street about a block west of Cedar road.

New Lenox has been talking about sewer and water for many years but previously the cost had exceeded the resources of the people, it was explained.

Now officials are hopeful that the project will be feasible.

A representative of Scott & Kegel, Inc., a Chicago bond house, was at the meeting last week. The village board plans to sign a contract with this firm for the purchase of the bonds.

As soon as the bids are compiled so costs can be determined the board will then set a date for the general obligation bond election, providing of course, it was stated, that the board and the bond house are convinced the cost is not too high. In case the costs are beyond reach the project would be dropped for the time being, it was agreed.

Lincoln-Way Players To Stage Comedy-Mystery

The Lincoln-Way Community Players will present their second play of the season in the Lincoln-Way high school auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings, March 11 and 12 at 8 p.m.

The play "Rehearsal for Death" is a comedy - mystery about a troupe of amateur players who are terrified by finding the members of the cast being murdered one by one. It ends up with a really exciting chase of the guilty man thru the audience itself.

The Lincoln-Way Community Players have an enthusiastic membership of people from Mokena, Frankfort, Lincoln Estates, New Lenox, and Manhattan. They sponsor the drama groups of Lincoln-Way high school, assisting them both financially and artistically, and also in furnishing equipment for the stage of the high school auditorium.

Members of the cast are, Rosalie Johnson, Paul Thomas, both members of the Lincoln-Way high school faculty; Grant Geuther and Lee Robinson, both of Frankfort; Vera Chapman, Betty Klasing, Chris Klasing, Lew Loebe, Jane Anderson, Dan Martin, and Irene Johnson, New Lenox.

Hold Funeral Services For Mrs. Hentsch

Louise M. Hentsch, 70, a life long resident of Mokena, died Sunday afternoon in her home, 17 E. Third st. She had been ill for the past three years.

Born Jan. 1, 1890, she was the daughter of the late John and Elizabeth Wannemacher. She was united in marriage Nov. 25, 1920 with Fred Hentsch, who died in 1956. She was a member of the Immanuel Lutheran church and active in its Ladies Aid society. She also was a charter and faithful member of the Auxiliary of the William Martin VFW Post No 729, Mokena, having just received a 25-year membership pin.

Surviving are two sons, Ervin and Walter; five grandchildren; a sister, Margaret, Mrs. August Werner and a brother George Wannemacher, all of Mokena. Her son George died in 1946.

Removal was to the West End Funeral home in Chicago Heights. Funeral services were held in the Immanuel Lutheran church, Mokena, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock with the Rev. A. Bueltmann officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Aurora's Stormy Mayor To Address Mokena C. of C.

Paul Egan, stormy petrel mayor of Aurora who has become quite a conversational piece in his home precincts, will be the speaker at the annual dinner of the Mokena Chamber of Commerce. The dinner is to be held this Saturday night, March 12, in Silver Lake Country club, Orland township.

Announcement that Egan would be the speaker was made this week by James Surovick, general chairman of the affair who will also serve as toastmaster. Surovick is being assisted in making the arrangements by Charles Swanberg, Richard Friant and Roy Richardson as co-chairmen.

Egan, according to those who have heard him as an after dinner speaker, is an uninhibited as such as he is in his speech and conduct as Aurora's chief executive.

The mayor of Aurora has more feuds going than Fidel Castro, the Cuban dictator. He is at war with his city council members, the state Gov. Stratton, the federal government, the police and firemen of Aurora, state police and quite a passel of others.

Last week Egan lost a $5 - million dollar suit based on the fact that he was heaved bodily out of the Aurora city hall in the course of a debate. Last week Egan was also informed by the Aurora city council that the city would not pay his telephone toll bills, especially those he made to Russia.

Wrestle Village Problems

Police Chief James Smetana of Mokena was granted a pay increase by the village board at its meeting last week. The raise amounts to $25 a month, beginning April 1.

This increase will bring his salary to $325 a month. Smetana addressed a letter to the board asking for more money and shorter hours. The board agreed to give more money but declined to reduce his hours. Smetana works the day shift and puts in a 48-hour week.

On a recommendation by Phil Hacker, police commissioner, the board instructed Village Clerk Alvin Sorensen to advertise for bids on a new squad car. The department, Hacker said, wants a six cylinder car. Mayor James Marti added a proviso that bids be accepted only from Mokena dealers.

The board also took action to require the prominent posting of permits to connect with the sewer system. Contractors or owner's doing the excavating must post the permit so it is readily seen, William Weber, who owns some farm land adjoining Mokena on the east was at the meeting to get information of the steps necessary should he decide to petition for annexation of the west end of his property to the village. He indicated that he might subdivide this section and wants it served with sewer and water. Mokena will not extend its sewer or water mains outside the village.

Request of Richard Pokorny, of Lincolnwood, for a permit to build a house at 49 E. Revere street, has been held up for study. The board was ready to approve application for the permit when Trustee Charles Hostert spoke up and advised the board with hold action. Hostert said that he didn't want Pokorny or any future owner to be sorry later that he was allowed to build in that location.

Hostert pointed out that a house at that particular location would be a source of trouble to village officials because of a surface water problem. This lot, Hostert told the board, is in a low spot and now carries two lines of drain tile leading from other properties. Pokorny told the board that he knew the problem existed but that he was prepared to eliminate it and wanted the permit. The board withheld action until the members had an opportunity to view the property in question. They were to have visited the spot last Thursday but fresh snow and ice deposits made such an inspection useless, it was said, so it was held up.

Will Tuttle, president of the Chamber of Commerce, announced that he has received permission from the Public Service Co. to use one of its poles in the installation of a flasher signal at Mokena and Front streets. The signal will hang above the intersection and serve to warn motorists that this intersection is a 4-way stop. The stop signs, people complain, are so low they are practically impossible to see when cars are parked near the intersection.

The flasher signal was purchased by the Mokena Chamber of Commerce and given to the village. The installation will be done by Tuttle without cost to the municipality.

Canvass For Red Cross Opens Sunday

Roland A. Lach, assistant cashier, Orland State Bank, has been appointed Red Cross fund chairman for Orland area. Those assisting him will be: Mrs. William Horton, Mrs. Sherman Knox, Frank Guetter and Arthur Granat.

Sunday, March 13 is designated as Red Cross Sunday and the volunteers will make a house to house canvass from 1 to 6 p.m. Those who cannot make the calls on Sunday, will do so during the week prior to the 13th.

Fire chief, Arthur Granat, will provide fire trucks to be utilized for publicity on the drive.

As this is considered a one day campaign, volunteers are asked to please report to Mr. Lach after 6 p.m. to deposit funds collected.

Remember Red Cross's only source of funds is volunteer contributions; so give as generously as you can.

"REHEARSAL FOR DEATH" is now in rehearsal by the Lincoln-Way Community players. The production is to be staged in the Lincoln-Way high school auditorium this week-end, March 11 and 12. It isn't cricket of course to anticipate the unfolding of a "whodunit" drama but apparently it is no secret that a big old sharp knife was the lethal weapon. In this scene (l to r) are, Irene Johnson, Lee Robinson, Paul Thomas, Rosalie Johnson, Grant Geuther (he is the one holding the knife and is the inspector in charge of the investigation), Betty Klasing, Lew Loebe, Jane Anderson and Chris Klasing. Like the ads of local merchants that you see in this newspaper, S&H Green Stamps boost business. At the same time they help keep prices down.

Here is why: When a store sells more, it can sell for less, since bigger volume brings lower costs.

Stores that use S&H Green Stamps must sell competitively. Illinois housewives are expert shoppers. They read the ads. They check and compare prices. And they can't be fooled!

Trading stamps are being saved today by two out of three American families—about 35 million in all. And their use is still growing in this and other States.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

HOW TO STOP SPREAD OF DENTAL DECAY

by The Chicago Dental Society

The Chicago Dental Society points out that one tooth may "catch decay from another—one good reason for attending to even the smallest spot of decay, or "caries" as it is professionally known, as soon as it is detected."

Dentists have observed for years that when a patient has one decayed tooth, the one next to it usually becomes decayed, unless the mouth is given prompt attention.

A research project completed by two government dental research scientists and reported at the recent midwinter meeting of the Chicago Dental Society now turns up evidence that dental decay can be considered a transmissible disease in hamsters. If this proves true in humans, dentists will be better prepared to stop the spread of dental decay.

As long as the profession of dentistry has been in existence, dentists have been trying to find the exact organism that causes dental decay.

It has been known for years that food particles in the mouth, especially those containing refined sugars, provide a fertile field for the action of acids which cause decay—but the question is, what is the organism that works on the food particles to create the acids? The same research project, which was given this year's research award by the Chicago Dental Society, has isolated and identified five strains of streptococcus organisms which caused dental decay in hamsters. This is regarded as a big step toward finding and classifying the culprit organisms that cause decay in our teeth. In the meantime, what can we do to keep our own mouths free from decay?

First of all—we can keep our teeth clean by brushing them at least twice a day. After each meal is ideal, but when it's not possible to brush your teeth immediately after the meal, try taking a slow swallow or two of water, and holding it in the mouth a few seconds before swallowing. This will help to rinse away at least some of the food particles.

It is important of course, to see your dentist at least twice a year—not just when a tooth is tender or aching. When you see the dentist, it is especially important that you follow his advice on what needs to be done to maintain your dental health and keep your teeth. If for example, your dentist's careful examination reveals several cavities, let him fill them all, no matter how small, so that it will then be comparatively easy to keep your teeth sound and your gums healthy with a routine visit twice a year. The patient who goes to his dentist with a toothache, has the offending tooth filled, and then fails to return for his next appointment after the dentist has uncovered the need for other repair work, is courting more serious trouble.

Tooth fillings may need to be replaced because they have worn out or broken off — or another spot of decay may form in the same tooth which will make it necessary to remove the old filling and repair the whole tooth with an inlay or a jacket crown. Your dentist is the best judge of what is the proper procedure for your individual mouth. See him regularly, take his advice and follow his instructions, and your future dental problems will be kept at a minimum.

Snows Of Yesteryears? All Appear To Be Here

A sound we would dispense with quite willingly is the ringing clang of a shovel striking cement or gravel following a swinging thrust against a thick layer of snow.

We concede there are far worse things than snow weatherwise but for the moment they escape us. Right now we are tired of driving on snow or ice as well as shoveling the dadratted stuff.

We know that later we will want to take it back but at this time we would even welcome a little grass cutting job. Cutting grass can be hot work and it becomes quite tiresome too but at least one doesn't need gloves, galoshes, and a thick jacket or storm coat in going about the business.

Another thing we can do without are the pear shaped tones of glib radio announcers -- as a preliminary pitch to selling flowers seeds, plants, automobiles, or fashions -- telling the world that in another 10 days or whatever it is, spring will arrive.

We are just as eager to see Spring as the next fellow but there is no point in rousing hopes that may be false ones. Just because the almanac says that after such and such a date it's Spring . . . or Summer . . . or Autumn . . . or Winter, does not mean that it's necessarily so, as the song says.

We do not wish to be pessimistic but we can remember too many years when snow and cold hung on thru March. We can remember snows in April. We have had snow in this area in May. A man who raised flowers and vegetables in the area for 60 years advised us at various times not to set things out until after May 15. There was always the danger of killing frosts up to that date, he said.

However, after March is out of the way we can expect some relief. We should escape some of the snow drifts that have made travel uncomfortable, either on foot or in a car. Horseback riding is out in a snowstorm.

So hang on, folks. Come July and we'll be wishing for some of this snow. But in the meantime this department for one, is tired of the stuff.

Announce Training Course For Great Books Leaders

A training course for potential leaders of south suburban Great Books discussion groups will be conducted at the Flossmoor Community Church, Carroll Parkway and Hutchinson Road, Flossmoor beginning Friday, March 18, it was announced today by Jack DeBacher, Palos Park, local Great Books discussion leader.

The 10 week course is designed to train discussion leaders for Great Books groups to be formed in the south suburban area in the fall.

Another course for those who work downtown will be given in the loop at the People's Gas, Light, and Coke 122 S. Michigan, beginning Thursday, March 24.

DeBacher said the course is free and open to the public. An interest in good reading and lively discussion—not lecturing—is the only prerequisite for attending. The course is led by members of the training staff of the Great Books Foundation.

Among the works to be considered during the 10 session course will be Plato's Apology and Crito, Machiavelli's The Prince, and Shakespeare's MacBeth.

Adults may obtain additional information by calling DeBacher at GI-8-4346, or by calling or writing Mrs. Jeanne Smith, south suburban coordinator, 17913 Oakwood, Lansing, Ill, GR-4-1317.

Reports $100-Million Business

A record-breaking 43,298 new customers and revenues of more than $100 million for the first time in Northern Illinois Gas Company's history highlighted the utility's annual report released last week.

Marvin Chandler, NI-Gas president, told stockholders total revenues in 1959 were 15 per cent more than 1958. Earnings were $1.80 per common share, an increase of 39 cents over 1958. Quarterly dividends on common stock increased from 22 cents to 25 cents effective last May 1.

The 28 per cent increase in earnings was attributed chiefly to the 118 million cubic feet additional pipeline supply obtained during the year, which permitted over 78,000 more residences to heat with gas. NI-Gas' pipeline supply now is 518 million cubic feet daily, a 50 per cent increase within about a year.

Addition of new customers by NI-Gas continued at about twice the national rate. The utility was serving nearly 673,000 customers in 285 northern Illinois communities at the year's end.

As 1959 closed, 56 per cent (356,270) of all NI-Gas residential customers heated their homes with natural gas. These customers accounted for 57 per cent of total revenues. Commercial and industrial sales also rose in 1959 (16 and 28 per cent, respectively), contributing to the record year.

Chandler pointed out that the additional daily pipeline supplies received in 1959, and the 144 million cubic feet more per day expected later this year as well as the brightening underground storage picture has made it possible for NI-Gas to clear up its residential space heat waiting list. These factors also permitted NI-Gas to authorize space heat on a limited basis to commercial and industrial buildings.

With gas available now for heating all residential and new commercial and industrial buildings, NI-Gas hopes to end heating restrictions this year.

In addition to the Herscher underground storage reservoir, the company is planning to use a supply from its own Troy Grove reservoir next winter to meet peak day requirements. The Troy Grove structure now is undergoing extensive withdrawal tests. Indications are that Troy Grove will be about as useful as Herscher, which is credited with seeing between 80,000 and 100,000 customers.

NI-Gas has announced plans to build a 75 mile pipeline this summer from the Troy Grove reservoir to the heart of its service territory near LaGrange. Additional withdrawal facilities also are planned so that supplies from Troy Grove will be available before next winter.

NI-Gas construction expenditures for 1959 totaled nearly $41 million, almost double that spent in 1958. The major project was the 140-mile East Dubuque to Des-Plaines pipeline costing $10,500,000, which is delivering 50 million cubic feet of natural gas from Northern Natural Gas Company facilities this winter. During the next five years (1960-64) expenditures are estimated at $180 million. This includes about $33 million for further development of underground storage. The company estimates development of the Troy Grove reservoir and the pipeline will cost $18 million. Other storage sites also are being sought by the company.

The report indicated NI-Gas will need an estimated $120 million of new capital to meet the five-year construction program. The company sold $15 million of 5.50 per cent preferred stock in January as the first step in raising this money and said it probably will need about $25 million additional capital before the end of the year. No definite plans on this financing have been determined.

Continuing progress was reported for NI-Gas Supply Inc., the utility's wholly-owned subsidiary. During 1959, the exploration subsidiary had participated with eight experienced operators in drilling 61 wells. Of these, 26 were gas producers, 11 oil producers, and 6 both gas and oil. Indications are that ultimate revenue from the sale of products from all wells will exceed total expenditures to date. At the year end, 38 producing wells in which the company had participated were tied into pipeline systems of its suppliers.

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND
We have entered a business period in which general business is good, but without boom aspects,

Industrial activity will be more competitive with cost accountants very active and intent on levying cost of operation for each stage of the production and sales efforts. Stockholders are now becoming very inquisitive concerning operations of firms in which their money is invested. They are likely to make more than casual comparisons between firms in the same field of industry. The cost accountant has been becoming a very important factor in management and some cynics now say that management is bowing low in the direction of cost accounting more than toward the laboratory.

For a number of years, the public seemed to assign a certain magic to the "stock split". Actually, unless the earnings per share or dividends were being increased, the net result to the stockholder would be the same as exchanging a ten dollar bill for two fives. The stock split may have been effected for sound reasons other than an immediate increase in per share market value.

Stock splits are often made in merger situations to achieve necessary share valuations. They can also be made in order to have a greater number of shares in the hands of the public. This latter is especially true in firms where shares are closely held or insufficient in number, to make for an orderly market for the shares. One of the prime considerations for listing on the New York Stock Exchange is that there shall be enough shares outstanding to make for a free and orderly market at all times.

A regular and orderly market for the shares of a firm, is of considerable value to that firm in marketing additional stock or bonds to secure additional funds for expansion. Obviously, if a firm's shares are well known, acceptance of new issues will be easier than for the more obscure firms.

Another magic term of the past few years has been the word "merger". Mergers are usually desirable and profitable where operations of the two firms will produce a greater net profit per share, than the firms operating individually. This would be achieved through use-of-plant of one or both at a higher rate and/or through operating economies in sales and general management.

However, mergers do not usually produce expected earnings results for some time after combining the operations. Some students of management insist that it usually requires almost five years before the combination is effectively meshed and full results achieved.

In combination of firms, there are problems of personnel at top level as well as in the plant and also meshing of policies and accounting, etc. These problems cannot be solved quickly.

Cameron Hawley, and author of books and articles on management subjects has just published The Lincoln Lords which deals with changes in corporation acquisitions. He points out that purchase of firms for the purpose of diversification, had become a sort of industrial fad and now some of these firms are quietly ridding themselves of such acquisitions.

A company acquired may be doing very well due to the drive and ability of the owners and loss of that drive can be important.

EAGLES FACE BRAIDWOOD TONIGHT

A Victory Would Pit Sandburg Eagles Against S. Suburban League Champ

Yes, for the first time in the history much of the copy being written is about Carl Sandburg high school roundball five.

Yes, the Eagles are headed for Kankakee to-night where they will can take Braidwood they will face stern competition in the winner of the Lockport-Kankakee battle. The K's are favored by five or ten points.

It looks much like Kankakee

They won two Conference titles. The Coal Valley and the Little Five were the trophies that Braidwood won over the regular season grind.

Then, they captured the Mazon ted upon, Wilmington found out. Mike Faletti, 6' forward flanking Cieslak, poured in 31 points and the basket in the sudden death overtime that netted the victory.

At center, leading rebounder and fine shooter, is 6' 5" Anton Kriz. Anton has consistently fed the two fine shooting and shorter forwards in the Braidwood attack. Reserve Ken Barnett is just 6' 5" inches. Both guards are nearly 6'. They are Dan O'Keefe and Bob Nix. These fellows are fine outfront and should not be expected to have trouble with the ball.

Sandburg will not have an easy time on the backboards tonight. In fact, they may find it a bit tougher. It took the Orland lads a half to solve Leon Clark and then took the rebounding in the second half.

Coach Bill Adams will go with substantially the same lineup that he has been using all year. At least seven men will probably see plenty of action.

Ron Lindgren put on a great second half show in shooting and rebounding in the Thornton game and will see about the full time in that game. Don Arnold and Gerry McBride will be 32 minute men as well.

Duane Erickson, Dick Berry, Paul Busch, and Lance Roberts will share the other two positions as usual.

It will be a balanced game again for the Eagles.

Senior Arnold glittered in the Thornton Regional. Don's shooting and rebounding were tremendous. Big Leon Clark didn't know how to handle him. Arnold is now coming into his own. He didn't produce the kind of ball expected of him in the regular season's play, but made up for it those few days at Blue Island.

Tonight the game will not be a wait for anyone present. In fact-- it must remain a toss-up.

There is one big factor that favors Braidwood in the contest-- Braidwood is tourney wise. They have been in two tournaments this season and won both of them. They are much accustomed to the pressure of such play.

Sandburg has only the regional.

Take a ride to Kankakee if you want to see a great battle. We think that Carl Sandburg has the stuff to drive on to victory then comes the next evening. That is -- Friday evening and a probable battle with Kankakee.

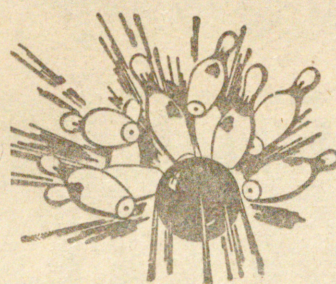

Kankakee has not had an easy time taking Thornton over the current season. The Wildcats made it somewhat of a contest in the second meeting of the two clubs. It might be a section win for Sandburg. It will be the first such in the school's history. The Eagles have the horses if they just keep them running.

The second half against Thornton proved the measure of these lads.

WINS MILE WALK at Madison Square Garden March 5, setting a new intercollegiate record for the event of 7 minutes, and seven seconds. The previous mark was 7 minutes, 8 seconds. Zinn, who is attending West Point Military Academy was representing that school in the competition Saturday.

He was graduated from Carl Sandburg high school in 1957 and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Zinn of Orland Park.

PTA NEWS

"Building Self-Confidence and Character in Our Children" was the topic discussed by Stanley Singer at the PTA meeting Wednesday, March 2, at the Orland Park elementary school. Mr. Singer, who is director of the Southwest Cook County Cooperative Association for special education, also told what has been done and what is planned by the association, of which the Orland school is a member, for the handicapped child. Mrs. Eugene Paschall, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

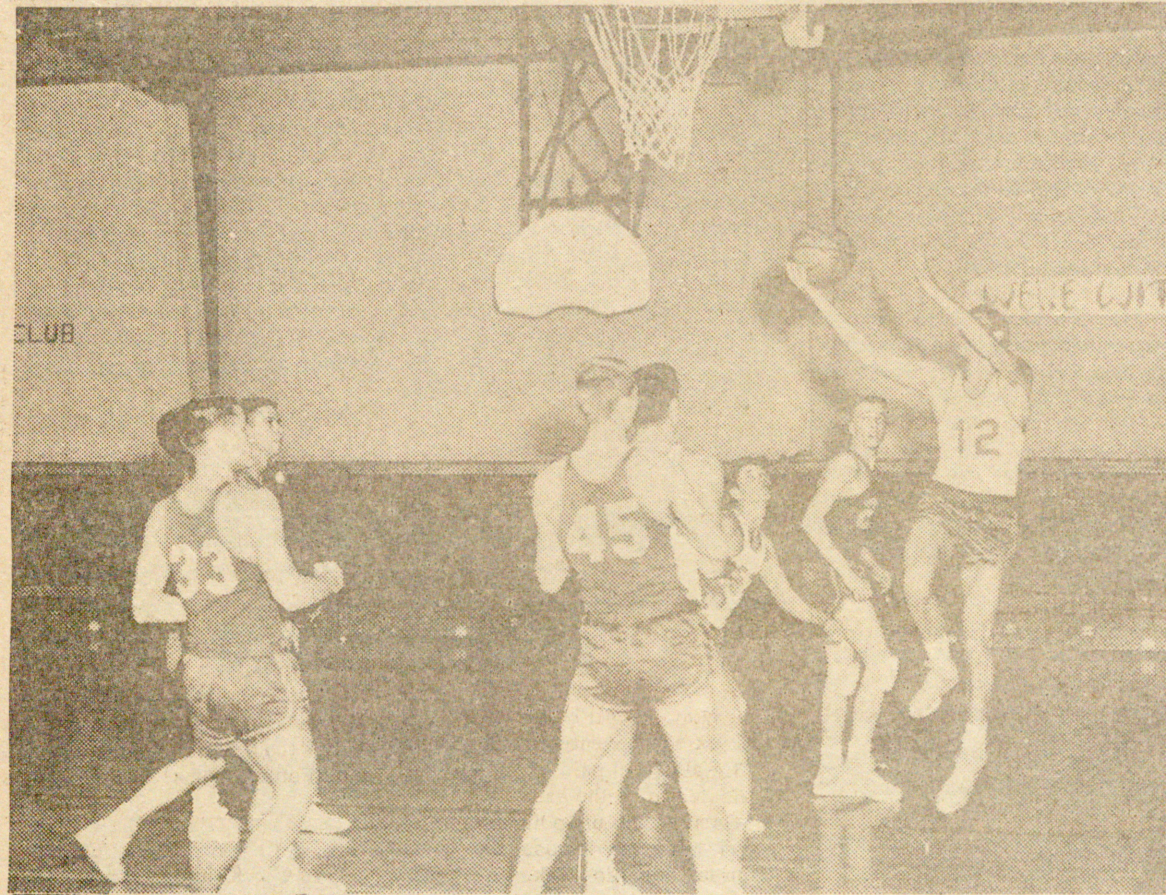

The time to start building self-confidence and character in our children, he said, is at their birth.

An art exhibit under the direction of Mrs. Barbara Fish, art teacher, preceded the PTA meeting at 7:30 p.m. An array of student work lined the halls of the primary building and the school lunch room, making it difficult for parents to choose the "Best of the Show". Grades one thru six participated. The "Best of the Show" award went to Craig Emerson, Leonard Garvey, took second place.

At the PTA meeting, presided over by Mrs. Frank Bischoff, president, Mrs. Rutilla Hall's class won the room count award.

Mrs. Richard Knoll, world clothing week chairman, reported 700 lbs. of clothing were collected by the student council under the direction of Miss Carol Jordh, 8th grade teacher. Mesdames Robert Songer, Richard Pihl, Ernest Bengtson, and Richard Knoll, assisted in packing the clothing.

Refreshments were served by mothers from Mrs. Wile's second grade, Mesdames Henry Wolski, Floyd Cooper, Stanley Yunker, and Charles McKinley.

GETTING READY FOR TOURNEY-- Carl Sandburg's cage-tourney squad has been engaging in light drills this week to keep in trim and their shooting eyes sharp preparatory to its appearance to-night in the Kankakee sectional, which is a part of the state wide tournament sponsored by the Illinois High School Athletic Association.

be slight underdogs in this contest. Braidwood beat the only opponent that plays many of the teams in this area, Plainfield 52-50.

However, Lincoln-Way was able to defeat Plainfield in two contests, the second on, 68-61.

This is a great season for Braidwood. They have a season's record of 24 wins and only 4 defeats, holiday and Coal Valley tournaments, prior to the victory in the Gardner regional contest over Wilmington.

Sandburg will meet a team that can score and plenty, when necessary. But the coal valley boys will not be short on defense. Ross Blake, Braidwood mentor, stated in a telephone conversation that the fellows on his squad are interested in defense. This has been the standout point of the Eagles team over the entire season.

Alex Cieslak, 6'2" forward, for Braidwood has scored a total of 516 points for a near 19 point average per contest. Alex won't be alone and cannot be concentrated.

Now is The Time To Prune Shrubs

Will County Farm Adviser A. A. Wicklin reports there is little to be done with shrubbery and trees that are under the ice pack.

He suggests pruning out the broken limbs after the ice leaves. Damage can be done to the tree and shrub if an attempt to straighten it is carried on when ice is still on the tree.

He further suggests that wildlife will probably need feed if the ice pack continues.

"The Dead Sea Scrolls" will be the topic discussed by Dr. Watson Boyes, curator of the Oriental Institute, University of Chicago, at the Methodist Men's club meeting Tuesday, March 15, 6:45 p.m. at MacKenzie's Restaurant.

Finding of the ancient leather scrolls in broken pottery jars in a cave on the shore of the Dead Sea by a Bedouin shepherd boy early in 1947, electrified all Christendom. They are the oldest known manuscript copies of any books of the Bible.

Archaeologists discovered other scrolls and fragments in 1947, and within recent weeks additional scrolls have been discovered.

Dr. Boyes was in charge of the Scrolls when they were on exhibit.

Tile Easement To Drain Streets

The village of New Lenox has arranged with Duane Carter for an easement thru his property to carry a tile line that is planned in order to carry off surface water from the vicinity of Second and Pine streets. It was announced by Mayor Stanley Gilmore at last week's board meeting.

However, bids will not be taken until the specifications for the project are completed and ready for contractors. This drainage problem has plagued the board and residents in the vicinity for many years. The board is hopeful of solving it soon.

Death Takes J. J. Jensen

Jens Julius Jensen, 76, who had been in ill health for the past year, died Monday, March 7, at his late residence 1112 N. Vine st., New Lenox.

He was born Aug. 30, 1883 in Denmark and came to Chicago with his parents when he was four years old. He was employed by the Bowman Dairy Co. there for many years.

In 1933 he came to New Lenox and had resided there since. Mr. Jensen was a member of D.C. Cregler Lodge, No. 643, A.F. & A.M., Chicago.

His only immediate survivor is his wife, the former Selma Johnson.

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the Bakerville chapel, U.S. 30., New Lenox, with the Rev. Leonard Reinko, pastor of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, officiating. Interment was in Hills of Rest cemetery, Joliet.

Police Judge Wants More Court Cases

Police Magistrate Otto Bormet of New Lenox had another go with the New Lenox village board at the meeting last week. He complained that he did not get his share of police traffic cases or any other cases handled by that department.

He told the board that inasmuch as he was elected to the office of police magistrate he believed that all cases in which village police make arrests should come into his court. If he is to be absent, he said, then he would designate a justice of the peace to preside in his place.

Police magistrates and justices of the peace have equal jurisdiction, according to legal authorities. Next year townships will not elect justices of the peace. They will be selected in areas that will cover several townships as the number will be limited to five or six for an entire county. They will also be paid a salary, all salaries to be the same.

Bormet and the police commission were to discuss the question further this week.

Va. As a boy he attained the rank of Eagle Scout and following college graduation he became assistant scout executive at Terre Haute, Ind., in 1927. As personnel director for the Boy Scouts of America, he is responsible for the recruitment, training and employment of all the scout executives in the United States.

Hold 2,441 Interviews In Guidance At Sandburg

Mr. Ray Bentz, Director of Guidance at Carl Sandburg High School, has announced that a total of 2,441 student interviews were conducted by members of the Guidance Department during the first semester of the current school year. To approximate--this would mean that each student at Carl Sandburg has had two interviews with a class counselor.

Students seek the services of counselors for a variety of reasons: they come to the counselor to plan the subjects which they will take and to arrange their class schedules; they come to discuss their achievement and progress in courses in which they are currently enrolled; they come to discuss their abilities, their strengths and their weaknesses.

Another important phase of the counseling program includes service to the student who comes to request information about colleges, scholarships, work opportunities and other related problems outside of the high school program. Still others come frequently for interpretation of their standardized test scores and lastly, but far from least important, many students come to discuss personal problems that they have encountered.

Mr. Bentz emphasizes that "preventive counseling" is the foundation of the guidance program at Carl Sandburg. "Our Counselors are constantly on the alert to help students who are in need of counseling services. Our aim is to work with the student promptly at the onset of his difficulty

Nearly 500 persons are expected to attend the meeting which will commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of Scouting in America.

Toastmaster for the meeting will be Morton H. Hollingsworth, of Joliet, state director of finance and a member of the Rainbow council executive board and Region Seven executive committee. A limited number of tickets for the meeting, which is open to the public, are available thru the Council Office located at 22 West Cass Street, Joliet.

The council, a partner member of the Community Chest, is composed of Grundy, Kankakee, and Will Counties.

CHAMPION SPELLER

Patricia Jaeger, 12 years old, of 13631 82nd ave., Orland Park, an eight grade pupil in the school of that village, has won her way into the finals of a Cook county spelling contest. The finals are to be televised on a date in May that was not set as of yesterday when the announcement was made.

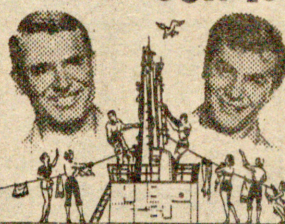

and to prevent the difficulty from becoming a serious problem to the student."

Prompt, effective counseling will often result in a favorable change in a student's attitude. The student will then react quite differently to a situation that has been troublesome to him, and he will be able to work out a satisfactory solution to his problem. Effective counseling of this nature reduces serious behavior problems, suspensions from school, truancy, and academic failures. Counselors at Carl Sandburg High School welcome the opportunity to talk with parents; working closely with parents will insure the maximum educational development of every student.
